AIPMA's AMTEC NEWS

Why to manage inventory

One of the most important drivers for profitability in an organization is inventory. The ROI of any company largely depends on the way they manage their resources. The traditional MRP system has its limitation and hence it is important to explore other rising techniques and methodology. One of the most recent ones is Demand Driven MRP.

Metrology solutions for aerospace industry: A ZEISS Industrial Metrology case study

The CMM, especially O-INSPECT 322, is very helpful in letting us know what our process capabilities are on the components that we are building.

Amphenol Canada Corp.

Amphenol Canada is a manufacturing facility for interconnect products. We manufacture for the military and aerospace industries, as well as some communications and satellite parts. We are a complete manufacturing facility for our connectors. We manufacture the contacts as well as the rubber inserts, as well as the plastic inserts, and the shells, so we are making almost all the components for our connectors in house.
